Copyright (c) 2023 _gorbodoh_. All Rights Reserved.

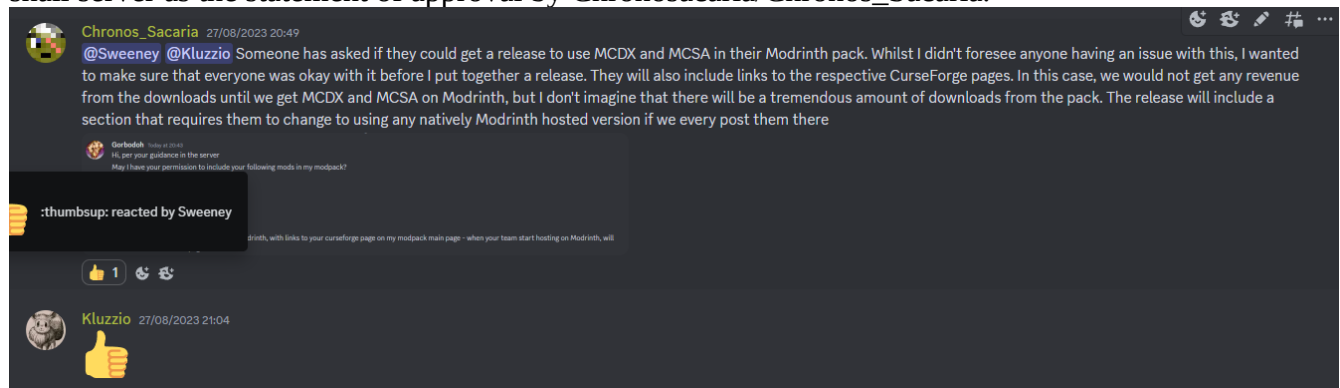

Pursuant to the clause titled Modpack Clarification, the following document serves as explicit written permission by the copyright holder(s) to allow this software to be used via an override. These terms are conditional upon the following:

- Should any of the permitted software(s) be hosted on Modrinth by the copyright holder(s) it is the responsibility of _gorbodoh_ (or the modpack’s current owner/administrator) to remove the permitted override(s) and change their modpack to include the versions that have been hosted on Modrinth. This release is granted in perpetuity or until the copyright holder(s) provide written confirmation to _gorbodoh_ (or the modpack’s current owner/administrator) that such permission has been revoked. Timefall Development may only revoke the aforementioned explicit permission if _gorbodoh_ (or the modpack’s current owner/administrator) violate(s) some other part of the Timefall Development License.
- Should the Timefall Development License be updated beyond version 1.1, a new release shall be issued to _gorbodoh_ (or the modpack’s current owner/administrator) if newer version(s) of Timefall Development’s software are used. _gorbodoh_ (or the modpack’s current owner/administrator) shall be required, as a condition of continued permission to use Timefall Development’s software, to include the updated permission document in the new releases of the modpack.

This document shall serve as explicit written permission to use the following software via an override:

- MC Dungeons Weapons
- MC Dungeons Armors
- MC Dungeons Artifacts
- MC Story Mode Armors

Modpack Clarification:

Permission is granted for Modpacks to include this software as long as the copy of this software in the pack is done via a manifest which would download this software from its respective CurseForge or Modrinth page. In the case of explicit written permission by a copyright holder, this software may be permitted to be used as an override, allowing for the direct integration with the Modpack in question. In the case of a resource pack, it may be added directly to a modpack's download.

Content Creator Clarification:

Permission is granted to Content Creators to make use of and monetise content that is created using this software. Whilst not required of a Content Creator, a link back to the CurseForge or Modrinth page of this software is greatly appreciated and encouraged.

Porting Clarification:

Permission is not granted to any user of this software to make ports of this software to another mod loader. This means that if this software was created for the Fabric Mod Loader, it may not be ported to the Forge Mod Loader or Quilt Mod Loader without express written permission from the copyright holders. Permission is granted to any user to fork the repository of this software and create a port to a different mod loader if, and only if, the port is to be submitted to the copyright holders as a Pull Request wherever this software's source code is hosted by the copyright holders. The submitter of the Pull Request containing the porting code agrees that Timefall Development is free to negotiate the terms for the use of the submitted code. This includes, but will often not be the case that, submissions are used without compensation of any kind.
